

FAMILIARISE YOURSELF WITH: THE NATIONAL SECURITY INQUIRY

#NATSECINQUIRY

The Government has proposed the largest attack on our privacy in over a decade and they're trying to rush it through parliament without anyone noticing.

● CHANGES INCLUDE:

- ✗ Two years mandatory data retention allowing ASIO to pick through your internet and telephone history at will.
- ✗ Mass surveillance of Facebook and Twitter.
- ✗ Force you to give up your passwords or face years in prison.
- ✗ Computers belonging to you may be accessed while investigating someone that you do not know.

● WHAT CAN WE DO?

The Government will go ahead with these plans unless enough people speak up. Public submissions can be made up until August 20th 2012. You can be as detailed or as brief as you like, just make yourself heard.

Don't let Australia become a surveillance state.
